In many traditions the heart is thought to be the seat of the soul in the body. In this workshop participants will discover how to access the magic of unconditional love that resides in every human heart. Through a combination of lecture, meditation and hands on processes participants will develop the skill of being more present with their own spiritual heart. Each class member will use the experience of presence in the spiritual heart:

For spiritual perception and insight

To resolve conflict

To enhance the power of hands on healing practices

To find a source of greater balance and inner peace

To better understand the distinction between emotional and the Spiritual heart
